State of child workers in the country

1135. SHRI V. GOPALSAMY: Will the Minister of LABOUR be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have seen the article in the •Statesman' of February 2, 1996 that there would be around 25 million child workers in the country by the year 2000 A.D.;

(b) if so, the present number of child workers and street children (State-wise), particularly in the four metropolitan cities;

(c) the number and details of child labour working in hazardous industries, particularly in the carpet, glass and electroplating industries, as on December 31, 1995 (State-wise); and

(d) the steps Government have taken to save and protect these children from exploitation and by when Government propose to abolish this practice?

THE MINISTER OF LABOUR (SHRI G. VENKAT SWAMY): (a) Yes Sir.

(b) The information is being collected and will be laid on the Table of the House.

(c) Authentic figures on child labour arc generated during the decennial census. As per 1981 census, the number of child labour was 13.6 million. The 1991 census data is yet to be released. However, State-wise details of child labour as per 1981 census is at statement (see below). Data on child labour industry-wise is not maintained.

(d) Government have already taken several steps to tackle the problem of child labour. As per the National Child Laboui Policy, 1987, child labour is being tackled through (a) Legislation (b) General Development Programmes for the benefit of children; and (c) implementation of National Child Labour Projects.

A comprehensive law, the Child Labour (Prohibition & Regulation) Act was enacted in 1986. There are protective provisions also in various other labour laws such as the Factories Act, 1948, the Mines Act, 1952, the Motor Transport (Workers) Act, 1961 etc. The approach of the Government is to implement all child related provisions of different labour laws in a harmonious fashion.

Government is presently engaged in the task of eliminating child labour in hazardous occupations, which is estimated at 20 lakhs, by the year 2000 A.D. As a part of the National Child Labour Policy, 1987, the Government has been implementing National Child Labour Projects (NCLPs) in areas of high concentration of child labour. A major activity undertaken under NCLP is the establishment of special school to provide non-formal education vocational training, supplementary nutrition etc., to the children withdrawn from employment. So far 70 National Child Labour Projects have been sanctioned and funds have been released to cover around 1.36 lakh children through more than 2200 special schools in the States of Andhra Pradesh,
